

RESPONDING TO CRITICAL INCIDENTS

GUIDANCE ON PROCEDURES FOR SCHOOLS

INTRODUCTION

The tragedies which occurred in Dunblane and at St George's Roman Catholic Secondary School, where the Headteacher, Philip Lawrence, was killed, underlined for all schools and LEAs the need to be prepared for a critical incident. The following guidance draws on experience of a variety of incidents and offers a draft Critical Incident Management Plan (CIMP). Schools will need to adapt this to suit their own particular circumstances.

The Education Department has developed its own Critical Incident Management Plan, which will be activated where necessary and operate alongside that of the school.

The procedures do not attempt to provide a detailed discussion of the many issues, which will be raised by the occurrence of a critical incident. They are designed to cover a range of incidents. The degree of response will vary and be dependent on the nature of any incident.

WHAT IS A CRITICAL INCIDENT?

A Critical Incident is defined as an emergency affecting pupils, personnel or property, requiring immediate responsive action beyond that which could be reasonably expected from the school's own management team during the day to day running of the school.

It may involve:

- the death of a child, staff member or governor;
- a serious accident involving children and/or school personnel on or off the premises;
- a violent intrusion onto school premises (e.g. an armed intruder or a bomb alert);
- extensive damage to school premises;
- the release of hazardous substances near or on the school site.

Everyone in a local school community is likely to be affected in large or small measure by any one or combination of the above incidents. Thinking through what you might need to do in such circumstances and having helpful information in an accessible place could make all the difference in successfully managing the situation. Schools may be close to a major chemical or industrial site for which specific arrangements are in place. Such schools are aware of the actions they must take in the event of an incident.

General advice in such cases is to keep or take children indoors and to listen to the local radio for police broadcasts on information. The County Council's Emergency Planning Division will contact the school as soon as they are informed by the police of an incident.

Schools within the vicinity of such major sites should ensure that their Critical Incident Management Plan covers specific action to be taken in such incidents. The companies themselves will normally provide an action sheet for schools. If you do not have one, contact the firm concerned.

CONTINGENCY PLANNING

There are likely to be a number of issues to manage and organise in the context of a critical incident. This can be eased by some preparatory thought and planning in advance. Advice already exists in the County's Health and Safety Handbook. This was recognised by the DfEE as an example of good practice.

The Section on Crisis and Security Management in Schools will be of particular help. Action sheets from that document are attached as part of the model plan for schools.

The principles below apply to managing a wide range of incidents:-

- design the plan to suit your establishment (particular care should be taken if your establishment has residential accommodation);
- it should be simple and straightforward to implement;
- it should be known by all those having identified responsibilities within it;
- it should be regularly reviewed and critical information updated;
- it should be held in a duplicate copy off-site in the event of fire/flood etc.

Managing people in the aftermath of a critical incident relies heavily on good information and having thought through the practical consequences of the range of interested parties and how they can be helped.

ROLES OF INDIVIDUALS

It is important that individuals understand their role within the Critical Incident Management Plan. There are a number of specific responsibilities, which need to be identified and assigned to individuals.

Individual responsibilities include:

- Person to take charge of the Critical Incident Management Team;
- Secretary to the Critical Incident Management Team;
- Contacting emergency services;
- Informing Derbyshire County Council;
- Opening appropriate buildings and ensuring access for the emergency services;
- Immediate action to safeguard staff and students;
- Media relations.

Attached as part of the draft plan are suggested roles and responsibilities. The allocation of these will vary from school to school. In a large secondary school it may be possible for a number of individuals to undertake these roles. Within a small primary school, many of them will fall to the Headteacher.

It is important that provisional allocations of responsibilities are made, but these may need to be reviewed in the light of staff absence for a variety of reasons, or according to the timing of the incident.

INFORMATION GATHERING

Up-to-date records on personnel and the premises will be essential in hard copy and computer form. A second copy of these and the Critical Incident Management Plan should always be kept off the premises by the Headteacher in order that vital information is not lost in the event of fire/flood/explosion. It would be particularly important for this list to be kept off the premises with any other important telephone numbers added (e.g. your school's Caretaker's contact number) in case a critical incident occurs out of school hours.

Record all actions using a standard incident log, since information may be required a long way into the future should there be a legal case to pursue. Maintain your own records of events as well as keeping file copies of other service notes of the progress of action. Immediate witness accounts should be kept securely for police evidence, if required.

DATA SECURITY

As part of the plan, Headteachers should consider the following:

- The duplication of important records, e.g. staff/pupil records, coursework, marks;
- The back-up arrangements for computer held data;
- The storage of duplicate copies at another site;
- Investing in both a fire safe and data safe.

COMMUNICATION OF INFORMATION

There is great value in establishing a telephone tree. This is a simple cascade mechanism for getting each person on the staff/governing body to phone an agreed number of colleagues with the key facts of the situations. These lists need regular review and updating for changed personnel and changed telephone numbers.

As part of the plan, it would be useful to have details of:

- Pupils/staff emergency contacts;
- LEA emergency contact numbers;
- Governors contact details;
- Phone numbers for bus/coach companies;
- Emergency supply/support details, e.g. regular supply teachers, other relief staff, telephone numbers of other local schools;
- Pupil/staff movement data, e.g. timetables, morning/afternoon registration data,
- etc.

Mobile phones can be invaluable in enabling phone lines known to the public to be used for incoming calls, whilst the mobile can be dedicated to outgoing calls. Neighbours to the school may be able to help in offering emergency access to their telephones for outgoing calls. The County Council Emergency Planning Officer can arrange additional communication facilities where needed.

Arrangements need to be made for informing staff, children and parents of what has happened and what action is being taken. Staff briefings at the beginning and the end of the day are particularly useful.

EVACUATION PROCEDURES

Schools evacuation procedures need to be incorporated as part of the Critical Incident Management Plan for use where appropriate according to the emergency. It is important that evacuation procedures are known to all and are practised regularly. One important consideration may be the need to ensure that where perimeter gates are locked, these are quickly unlocked to allow access by the rescue service, where necessary. If school gates are locked, this should form part of your procedure for fire drills and evacuation and needs building into such procedures.

BASE FOR CRITICAL INCIDENT MANAGEMENT TEAM

It will be important to identify a base from which the Critical Incident Management Team could operate. Whilst many schools will not have space to dedicate to the establishment of an emergency base, it would be valuable to identify the place in school which would be used for this purpose, if required, and ensure that all key equipment and information sources are there.

This may be the Headteacher's office, but it would be helpful to identify, if possible, a second location on site if the first location is not usable for any reason.

Schools should also consider having a reserve off-site location as the base for the Team. This may be a neighbouring school or other Local Authority premises or facilities such as the Village Hall, which could be used with prior agreement. Whilst such a location is not essential, it is desirable and may be particularly helpful in the case of a major incident on the school site itself. The County Council's Emergency Planning Division can arrange temporary accommodation, if needed, during an emergency.

PARENTS AND OTHER VISITORS

When parents hear of a problem, they will naturally come to the school for information. You may need to identify a space where parents/carers can be seen in groups or on an individual basis where tragic news can be shared in a considerate way. A staff member or trusted adult from the school community may need to be on hand to receive visitors and deal sensitively with their enquiries.

MEDIA RELATIONS

A positive relationship will be helpful in the event of bad news since your contacts will know that you will share information when you have it and be direct in the messages you need to get across. Your immediate call to your contact within the Education Department at the outset of the critical incident will enable the LEA to mobilise the Press Office on your behalf. They will be able to handle much of the press interest to leave you free to manage the situation; however, there may be occasions where a media interview may be required.

Detailed advice and support is available from the Press Office, but below are key things to consider:

- agree all press statements with the County Press Office;
- ensure that all information to the media comes through a single reliable source, keeping the Press Office briefed at all times;
- demonstrate control and reassure in a factual way that everything is being done to control the situation and minimise its consequences;

- set minds at rest where possible and counter dangerous rumours. In an interview, present as caring, responsible and competent;
- provide as much information as reasonable; better the truth is published than rumour/ gossip from a third party;
- agree timing of press releases to avoid continuous pressure. In certain situations it may be helpful to set up a dedicated media response room.
- You may find it helpful to prepare some basic information about the school which could be used in the event of a major incident. A suggested format with brief information is attached within the model plan. The information in that can be supplemented as schools would wish to give further factual or contextual information about the school. It may be helpful to include details of security systems and procedures in place in school.

INTERNAL COMMUNICATIONS

It is important to establish mechanisms for informing staff of developments. This could be through morning briefings. It is also important to debrief all staff involved at the end of each working day/shift. Ensure that information is recorded and shared.

Particular issues you may wish to consider are:

- How members of staff can be alerted in the first instance without alarming pupils unnecessarily.
- ID for Headteacher/Senior Management Team - visitors to site may not be familiar with all senior staff or the layout of the building.

IMPORTANT ACTION POINTS

- Ensure the existence and whereabouts of the School Critical Incident Management Plan is known to staff;
- Review the plan and its content at least once each year.
- Keep the plan up-to-date regarding personnel
- Ensure staff know their roles;
- Keep the school's contact list near to the phone in case it becomes necessary to activate the plan;
- Send a copy of the plan to the Education Department for reference centrally.

AFTER THE IMMEDIATE EVENT HAS BEEN DEALT WITH - MEDIUM AND LONG-TERM

The Critical Incident Management Team may need to continue to function for some time after the incident in order to consider a number of issues. These may be:

- When and how to re-open the school;
- How to deal with continued interest from the media;

- The provision of information to parents and the public;
- Support for the families of those hurt or bereaved;
- Attendance at funerals;
- The organisation of memorial services;
- Particular thought needs to be given to the sending of cards and flowers;
- Investigations are likely to be undertaken by various bodies such as the police and insurance companies.

CARING FOR SURVIVORS

Staff

Anxiety and the urgent pressure of events may produce stress amongst staff. The Critical Incident Management Team needs to think about how to support individuals in the aftermath of the events.

Students

Those more likely to be affected are those whose lives were most at risk during the incident; those who witnessed death and carnage; and those who have unstable family relationships. The Education Department can assist through the County Psychology Service which provides Critical Incident Stress Debriefing. This is available by agreement with the County Coordinator who will consult with the Department's own Critical Incident Management Team on the involvement of the Service.
